"I've never loved anybody like that in my life," Andi said of Josh.

Andi's FAKE HEARTBREAK

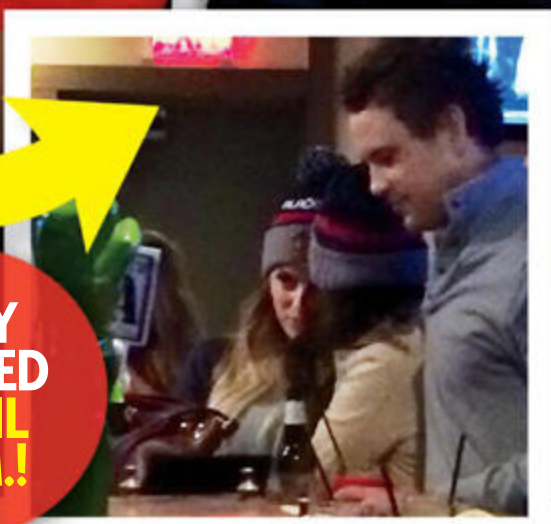

SHE'S SECRETLY SEEING NICK!

THEY PARTIED UNTIL
1 A.M.!

Nick was visibly upset when Andi dumped him for Josh in season 10.

It was one of the most controversial episodes in the history of The Bachelorette. During season 10's live After the Final Rose special last July, star Andi Dorfman was confronted by Nick Viall, the contestant who finished second to her eventual fiancé Josh Murray. "If you weren't in love with me, I'm not sure...why you made love with me," Nick told her.

At the time, Andi called Nick's comment "tasteless" and "below the belt." But now, as Andi, 27, is making the rounds, tearfully explaining why she and Josh have recently called it quits, Star has exclusively learned that she and Nick have secretly been spending romantic evenings together!

On Feb. 15, the brunette beauty was crying about her breakup with Josh on the Bachelor follow-up special (even though they appeared to be the picture of happiness at the Bachelor Season 19 premiere red carpet event in January).

Through her tears she said that, after that night, she and Josh decided to end their engagement and that it was the "biggest failure of my life."

She claimed to be devastated that she would never set a wedding date with her No. 1 choice. But she'd seemed to be anything but broken up just two days earlier, when she and runner-up Nick, 34, were all over each other, drinking and dancing at the Newport Bar & Grill in Chicago. "She seemed very into Nick," a witness reports. "She had her head on his shoulder, she was hugging him and whispering in his ear. At one point, he had his hand in her lap and then Andi got up and was dancing on the bar," the witness continues.

"I didn't get the feeling that she was sad in the slightest. She was having a great time." ★

Quick Change!

In one of the night's most buzzed-about moments, host Neil Patrick Harris stripped down to his tighty-whities to spoof Best Picture winner Birdman.

GRAND FINALE!

Group Shot

Tegan and Sara were joined by Andy Samberg for a colorful and energetic performance of their nominated song "Everything Is Awesome" from The Lego Movie.

Oh, Glory!

Chrissy Teigen couldn't have been more proud of her husband, John Legend, who took home the Oscar for Best Original Song, but when it came to Neil Patrick Harris, the model wasn't so smiley. "Neil said hi to Chrissy backstage, but she just rolled her eyes and kept walking," revealed an insider. "It was very bizarre."

Big Winner

Patricia Arquette was all smiles while having her Oscar statue for Best Supporting Actress engraved at the Governors Ball.

MORE OSCARS GOSSIP!

★ Jessica Chastain tried to chat with Meryl Streep backstage, but the three-time Oscar winner “couldn’t have looked more put off.”

★ Sarah Hyland spent the night at Elton John’s Oscar party with new boyfriend Dominic Sherwood and was overheard referring to him as an “upgrade” from her abusive ex.

★ Jared Leto didn’t hide his affection for Victoria’s Secret model Behati Prinsloo — he was openly ogling her right in front of her husband, Adam Levine!

★ At Elton John’s party, Miley Cyrus had an awkward encounter with her ex Liam Hemsworth’s former fling Eiza Gonzalez.

★ Because of an allegiance to Angelina Jolie, Natalie Portman did her best to steer clear of Jennifer Aniston; Reese Witherspoon even had to break up a near run-in in the bathroom!

★ Sienna Miller was horrified when a socialite asked her if pal Robert Pattinson would ever date Kristen Stewart again; she made a beeline for the bathroom without responding.

Pretty Pair

Keith Urban and Nicole Kidman were touchy-feely as they made their way around the Dolby Theatre, but it was their frozen faces that had their peers buzzing. “People were speculating that they got his-and-hers Botox!” dished an eyewitness.

Passing The Torch

2014 Best Actor winner Matthew McConaughey proudly presented Julianne Moore with the Best Actress Oscar for her performance in Still Alice.

Preshow Selfie

Nominee Reese Witherspoon captured the craziness of the red carpet with a smile.

Green Goddess

Scarlett Johansson showed off her slim figure and edgy, shaved 'do in an emerald Versace gown, which she paired with a questionable clunky necklace. At the postshow Governors Ball, the actress was overheard gushing to Lady Gaga, saying, "I would give away all my acting talent to be able to do what you did and touch a crowd like that."

WE ACCEPT!

Birdman's Big Night

Emma Stone was all smiles while celebrating her movie Birdman's win for Best Picture with director Alejandro González Iñárritu. The actress' boyfriend, Andrew Garfield, couldn't make the show, but she made sure he didn't miss a thing — she was spotted sending him photos and videos all night long!

LEGO MANIA!

Next-Best Thing

Meryl Streep, Bradley Cooper and Clint Eastwood may not have taken home Oscars this year, but they happily settled for Lego trophies instead! Despite American Sniper's huge box office success, the buzz at Oscar parties was that Clint got snubbed because of his staunchly Republican views.

MORE OSCAR GOSSIP!

★ BFFs Nina Dobrev and Julianne Hough were boy crazy at Elton John's Oscars party. "They were like two little schoolgirls at a lunch table, nervous to talk to boys!" dished a witness.

★ While enjoying unlimited champagne at Harvey Weinstein's pre-Oscars party, Channing Tatum couldn't keep his hands off wife Jenna Dewan Tatum — and wasn't shy about showing off his dance moves.

★ Also at the pre-Oscars dinner, Anna Wintour paid special attention to Rita Ora, leading to speculation that the singer may get her very first Vogue cover.

★ While getting ready for her postshow hosting gig, Khloé Kardashian was spotted downing champagne and was overheard joking to her producer that she was "too tipsy to host."

★ On the red carpet, Giuliana Rancic was worried about looking "too skinny," while Kelly Osbourne was heard complaining about how much weight she'd gained.

Gal Pals!

Oprah Winfrey and Marion Cotillard were treated to a sneak peek from upcoming Broadway plays Finding Neverland and Around the World in 80 Days.

GLAM GIRLS!

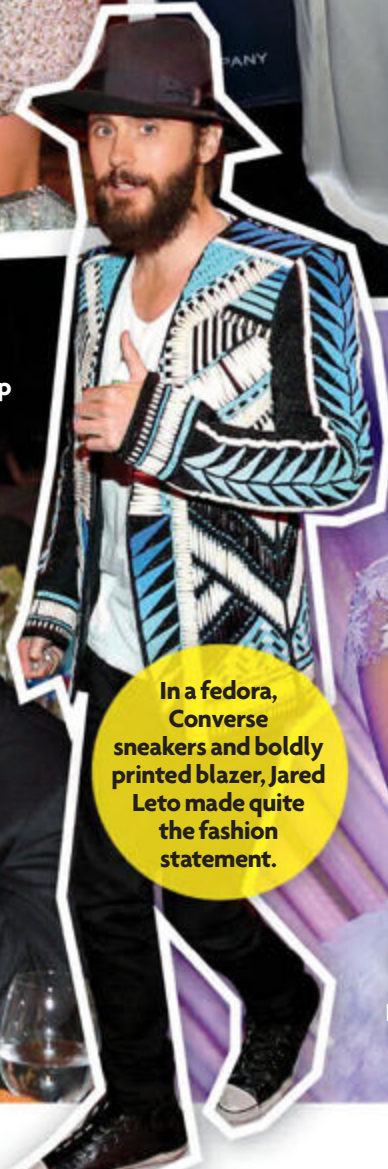

Ladies' Night

Jennifer Lopez looked like a goddess next to the equally gorgeous fashion designer Georgina Chapman, Harvey Weinstein's wife.

Brit Moment

James Corden and Benedict Cumberbatch talked shop at the party, which was presented by Fiji Water.

In a fedora, Converse sneakers and boldly printed blazer, Jared Leto made quite the fashion statement.

Taking The Stage

Rita Ora performed the song "Play" at the star-studded pre-Oscars bash.

Poor Little Rich Girl

Kim subjected baby daughter North to the ear-splitting volume and frightening chaos of fashion shows. Was it to spite her siblings?

FOR

KIM VS. HER SISTERS!

HOW SHE RUINED FASHION
WEEK FOR KENDALL AND KYLIE.

WANG

BEYONCÉ rolled her eyes. Anna Wintour sneered. Even the models were distracted. But as Kim Kardashian's daughter, North, threw a full-blown tantrum from the front row of dad Kanye West's fashion show — starring Kim's little sis Kylie Jenner — the reality star mom looked not only calm but downright smug. Her plan to soak up all the attention was working.

After begging their big sis to steer clear of Fashion Week, lest she steal the spotlight, catwalkers Kendall and Kylie are livid that Kim not only turned up at their shows but brought her toddler daughter as well.

"Kylie was so annoyed," said a friend close to her. "Being in Kanye's show was a big deal to her because she hadn't done much modeling of this type, but everyone was only interested in North and Kim — not her."

Kendall, who was tapped to star in the Alexander Wang runway show, falsely believed that Kim wouldn't dare pull such a stunt after she specifically asked her not to attend. But when Kendall hit the runway, ready for her big moment, she was livid to see Kim — and North — sitting front and center.

"Kendall couldn't believe she'd show her face and bring North after she ruined Kylie's debut at Kanye's show," sniped the pal. "It was a complete disaster and a total embarrassment."

It seemed to be a nightmare for North too. Loud, chaotic and crowded, Fashion Week is no place for a baby on the verge of her terrible twos. But it seems Kim was willing to risk North's comfort just to stick it to her little sisters.

"Kendall and Kylie are so embarrassed and hurt by Kim — they know she was just using poor North against them to get attention," adds the source. "But clearly, it worked. The whole fiasco became the talk of New York Fashion Week, and the girls feel like they're being overshadowed by Kim. Again." ★

SAM SMITH'S OUTRAGEOUS EGO

After a whopping four Grammy wins, Sam Smith's ego is growing as fast as his fame! "Sam now has one of the worst attitudes in the business," dishes an insider, recalling an incident during Grammys rehearsals where Sam "went ballistic" on his sound team. "He belittled one guy who didn't have Sam's preferred brand of microphone on hand, then had a meltdown because frequencies were off. He could've asked nicely, but instead he decided to humiliate his whole team." While he certainly has the talent to back up his bravado, the insider adds that Sam's pre-fame friends no longer recognize the once shy boy from London. "It's disappointing to watch who he's becoming," laments the source. ★

JLAW & BRADLEY NOT SPEAKING!

Jennifer Lawrence and Bradley Cooper's on-screen sizzle has fizzled. Sources reveal that the showmance they developed when they costarred in Silver Linings Playbook and American Hustle is over, in the wake of the bad press surrounding their new movie, Serena. "They're preparing for a real flop," says a Hollywood insider. "It was released already on demand and in Europe and did terribly." The stress of having a turkey on their hands has taken its toll on their formerly electric chemistry. "Their flirtatious friendship has disappeared," adds the insider. "Nobody knows exactly why." The two just started filming yet another movie, Joy, and the tension between Jennifer and Bradley is apparent to everyone. While reps for both actors deny it, spies on set tell Star that relations between them are "quite frosty." ★

Kris & Corey

MOVING IN!

The momager's new romance is heating up — fast!

KRIS JENNER has a new (and much younger) roommate, and it's not one of her grandkids! The Kardashian family matriarch has already moved her boyfriend of five months, Corey Gamble, into her $4 million Hidden Hills, Calif., home, and insiders say her family is not happy. "Everyone finds it hard to believe that Corey sees Kris as anything more than a sugar momma," says a source.

The questionable decision comes on the heels of Kris' sudden empty nest.

Kim Kardashian and Kanye West, who were staying at Kris' home with daughter North, 20 months, for nearly two years while their mansion was being renovated, moved out in late January. The 59-year-old's youngest daughters, Kendall, 19, and Kylie, 17, whom she shares with ex-husband Bruce Jenner, are also gone. "Kris had a mini meltdown," admits a friend. "Everyone is off doing their own thing, and she's lonely."

And now that Corey, 34, who works for Justin Bieber's manager Scoter Braun, has made himself at home, Kris' inner circle is worried that he'll take advantage of her. "She cooks for him, cleans up after him and pays for everything," dishes the source. "Her kids think he'll never leave, even if they break up."

For now, the reality star is ignoring her children's concerns and is diving headfirst into her new romance. "Everything has moved at lightning speed with them," continues the pal, "but Kris insists she's happy. She won't let anyone try and convince her otherwise." ★

★ Oh, Baby! Mark-Paul Gosselaar and wife Catriona welcomed a daughter, Lachlyn.

Orlando & Paula's RED CARPET FLIRT FEST!

Orlando Bloom, 38, may have run into estranged wife Miranda Kerr and ex-fling Selena Gomez at the Vanity Fair Oscar bash, but he had eyes only for Robin Thicke's ex, Paula Patton, 39. "Orlando couldn't keep his eyes off Paula, and she definitely loved the attention," says a source. "They flirted insanely. He kept telling her how beautiful she looked, and she was obviously eating it up." The witness says they ignored other partygoers for at least an hour. Eventually, Paula's buddy Zoë Saldana grabbed her to take a spin on the dance floor. "Orlando just stared at her intensely as they walked away," the fellow partygoer says. No word on whether he got her number! ★

Christina's PRENUP DEMANDS

Christina Aguilera isn't called a diva for nothing. The Voice coach is refusing to walk down the aisle with baby daddy Matt Rutler, 30, until he signs on the dotted line. "She won't do anything until there's an ironclad prenup in place," says an insider. "It's turned into a behind-the-scenes battle over spousal support." Christina, 34, learned her lesson when her five-year marriage to Jordan Bratman fell apart and she had to pay him a hefty sum. Now she wants to make sure that Matt, father of her 6-month-old daughter, Summer, doesn't get his hands on her $130 million fortune if things head south. "Christina really does think Matt's The One...but she felt the same way about Jordan," adds the insider. "She's not going through that again." ★

RIHANNA seems to have found love in a hopeless place. The “FourFiveSeconds” singer, 27, who has been casually hooking up with Leonardo DiCaprio since late December, has found herself in a position no one ever thought she would be in: rejected by a man! The hunky actor, 40, who is known for his love of models, was overheard telling friends recently that Rihanna is “no one special.” The duo spent Valentine’s Day together partying at NYC’s Up & Down nightclub until 4:30 a.m. But while Rihanna tried to hang on Leo’s arm all night, eyewitnesses say he was bragging about his single status. “She was throwing herself at him,” spills a spy, “but he was looking in every other direction. It was obvious he wasn’t that into it.” Pals say the Barbadian beauty has even convinced herself that all their sneaking around is Leo’s way of protecting their budding romance, when in reality it’s the polar opposite. “He’s only interested in hooking up,” says the source. “She needs to get smart.” ★

Billy Joel MARRIAGE NO. 4!

He’s still a hopeless romantic! After three failed marriages, sources say Billy Joel is finally ready to go back to the altar again, with longtime love Alexis Roderick. The “Uptown Girl” singer, 65, who gave Alexis, 33, a diamond ring more than two years ago, has been dragging his feet about popping the question but recently decided that they’ve waited long enough. “That ring wasn’t an engagement ring — more like a friendship ring,” dishes an insider. “But he came to realize that he wasn’t being fair to Alexis. He knew he couldn’t keep stringing her along forever.” Billy, who was previously wed to Elizabeth Weber from 1973 to 1982, Christie Brinkley from 1985 to 1994 and Katie Lee from 2004 until 2010, popped the question in early February. “They’re looking at a summer wedding,” dishes a friend. “He’s happier than ever.” ★

LeAnn & Eddie’s SEX LIFE SLUMP

The seven-year itch came three years early for Eddie Cibrian and LeAnn Rimes. “They’re in a rut, and she’s freaking out,” tattles a friend. LeAnn, who wed Eddie nearly four years ago, was spotted in Victoria’s Secret loading up on $1,000 worth of sexy lingerie and candles to help light a fire under her not-so-amorous hubby. But it seems her passion pleas fell on deaf ears.

“It’s like Eddie doesn’t want to be alone with her for an extended amount of time. It’s a shock to her ego,” adds the source, “She doesn’t want Eddie’s eye to wander, so she’s doing anything she can to keep him happy in the bedroom.” ★

A Royal Emergency

After experiencing severe early contractions, Kate was secretly rushed to St. Mary's Hospital via ambulance.

CLOSE CALL

WITH HER SECOND ROYAL BABY'S DUE DATE STILL
SEVERAL WEEKS AWAY,
DUCHESS KATE SUFFERS A TERRIFYING HEALTH SCARE.

“Kate was frantic. Her immediate fear was for her unborn baby.”

— a friend tells Star

WITH sirens blaring and lights flashing, an ambulance roared through the streets of London in mid-February, carrying a petrified VIP passenger. The pregnant Kate, Duchess of Cambridge — still seven weeks shy of her second baby’s due date — writhed in pain as paramedics rushed her to St. Mary’s Hospital.

“Kate was frantic. William wasn’t home, and she was seriously concerned about the pain she was in,” says a royal source, explaining that it was early contractions that had the duchess alarmed. “She was doubled over in agony, and her immediate fear was for her unborn baby. So she had her aides call emergency services.” With Kate, 33, on her way to the hospital and 19-month-old Prince George in the care of his nanny, the palace went into lockdown. “No one was allowed to talk to the press in any capacity,” the source reports.

Since the episode, “Will begged Kate to take it easy,” says an insider. “But she brushes off his concerns.”

Despite the media blackout, Star has the inside details of Kate’s frightening pregnancy scare, which threatened a second royal baby’s entrance into the world.

A TRAUMATIC ORDEAL

Kate had been suffering from Braxton Hicks contractions — or false labor pains — for a while, the source reveals. “She had the same thing with George, but they've been keeping her up at night lately," the insider notes. "The contractions aren't necessary a sign that the baby is coming early, but they can be a red flag, so her doctors have been preparing for an early arrival." While her doctor has assured the duchess that Braxton Hicks are not uncommon nor are they a great cause for worry, she couldn't shake the feeling that something was terribly wrong on this particular day, when the sharp pains became severe.

Kate's mom, Carole, rushed to the hospital as soon as Kate told her she was having severe abdominal pains. She arrived even before William did. "It was a great comfort to Kate, having her mother by her side the whole time," the source says. "Since then, Carole has been visiting Kensington Palace as much as possible to check up on her daughter."

Once the duchess was admitted to the hospital, doctors began a series of non-invasive tests to diagnose her symptoms. "At first they thought she was in labor, but her contractions weren't regular enough to warrant them preparing for birth," the source says. "But Kate was nauseous and had terrible cramping in her stomach, so that was a concern."

While doctors couldn't establish what, exactly, was wrong, they deemed it necessary to keep Kate in the hospital overnight for observation, as the baby's heart rate was elevated. By this point, Kate's husband, Prince William, and mother, Carole Middleton — both of whom rushed to the hospital after being alerted to her condition — were at the duchess' bedside. "It was a very tense night, to say the least," says the insider. "They knew that if the baby was born this early, it would likely be underweight and could possibly need a breathing or feeding tube...or both."

But as the minutes turned into hours, Kate's symptoms gradually diminished and then disappeared completely. Less than 24 hours after she was admitted, the duchess' and her baby's vitals had stabilized, and doctors were able to give her the all clear. "Kate couldn't believe it. She kept saying, 'Are you sure?'" the source reports. "She was so relieved it turned out to be nothing, but she was embarrassed that she'd caused such a fuss." Still, doctors assured her she'd done the right thing. "They made her promise that if anything like this happens again, she will come in right away," the source says.

Kate has promised to stay at or near her home in Kensington Palace until the baby is born, in case she goes into early labor. "William is not taking any chances getting her to the hospital in time," says the source.

NO REST FOR THE WEARY

The medical emergency punctuated a busy month for the duchess. Upon arriving back in London on Feb. 9 from a family vacation on the Caribbean island of Mustique — where she, William and George joined her parents, Michael and Carole, and siblings, James and Pippa, for Carole's 60th-birthday celebration — Kate was thrust back into her official duties. "There was no rest for Kate," the insider explains. "Their plane was barely on the ground, and her schedule was being laid out in front of her. It's enough to make anyone's blood pressure skyrocket."

Whether or not Kate's hectic itinerary contributed to her health scare, William, 32, suggested as soon as she left the hospital that she cancel her upcoming appearances and rest. "But Kate wouldn't do it. She is a trouper and never wants to let the palace down," the source says. "She promised she'd let him know if she felt she was overexerting herself."

Still, Kate has made one important concession since the traumatic ordeal: She's hired nurses to stay with her around the clock. "They help put her mind at ease, and they'll know what to do in an emergency," the source explains. She has also agreed to stay close to Kensington Palace for the next two months. "Kate loves spending time at their country home, on the Queen's Sandringham Estate, but it's almost three hours from London," the insider says. "She has to be near St. Mary's, because it's well equipped to handle a premature birth and security will be easier to manage there."

Even though Kate is staying home, William is set to depart for the opposite side of the world. He'll spend Feb. 26 through March 4 in China and Japan, on official business. Both the duke and duchess are nervous about his trip, given her recent health scare, but having the nurses with Kate has helped to ease their fears somewhat.

ON HIGH ALERT

Of course, feeling sick with a baby on the way has become the norm for Kate. She's suffered from hyperemesis gravidarum — a rare but severe form of morning sickness — through the early months of both pregnancies. "For more than half this pregnancy she's been throwing up, in and out of hospital, looking after a toddler and performing her royal duties," says the source. "It's been unbearable."

With all the issues Kate has experienced while expecting both of her children — especially with her husband often away, training as a helicopter-ambulance pilot or traveling for his royal duties — Kate is living with a heightened sense of concern these days. "The smallest thing can send her into a frenzy," the insider says. "So you can only imagine how worried she was when she started cramping, feeling sick and having contractions."

And as her doctors continue to monitor the health of both Kate and her unborn baby, the royals have put St. Mary's on standby, holding the hospital's most secure and private birthing suite for the duchess in case of a premature delivery. "This scare has made her realize she doesn't want to take any chances," the source explains. "Everyone is on high alert for an early arrival." ★

Signs of Stress

While Duchess Kate has dutifully honored her royal commitments in the days following her medical emergency, she is exhibiting signs of stress. During a factory visit on Feb. 18, the normally perfectly coiffed princess showed off her gray roots — a signal that she's too overwhelmed to maintain her hair-dye regimen (though her roots seemed to stay beautifully brunette while she was carrying George). And the bags under her eyes suggested a distressing lack of sleep. "Kate is clearly shaken, but she's trying to downplay it and keep things as normal as possible," says a royal source. "She and William are rushing to get everything in place before the new baby arrives, and it's become exhausting for her."

Bruce's Cross-Dressing Debut

Long before the world knew about his desire to become a woman, Bruce proudly showed off his feminine side in full drag — wearing a sparkling red dress, heels, makeup and wig — on Bob Hope's fall preview comedy special in 1981. Bruce dressed up for a skit in which he, legendary comedian Hope and football star Merlin Olsen portrayed a female singing group called The Mandrake Sisters and sang "Take This Job and Stuff It!"

HE WORE A DRESS ON NATIONAL TV!

Bruce:

"I Still Like

BRUCE JENNER IS TELLING FRIENDS THAT ONCE HIS GENDER REASSIGNMENT IS COMPLETE, HE HOPES TO SETTLE DOWN WITH A WIFE.

HE is undergoing the biggest, bravest transformation of his life — guaranteed to affect everything from his family relationships to his wardrobe choices.

But once Bruce Jenner undergoes gender reassignment, there is one thing that may not change: his sexual preference for women.

"Right now, Bruce is still attracted to women and plans to be a lesbian once he completes his transition," explains an insider of the Kardashian clan patriarch, who, as Star previously reported, wants to be known as Belinda after his sex change is complete. "He's not sure if the hormone treatments will change how he feels about men, but right now he says that he still likes women and can't imagine himself being attracted to men."

LOOKING FOR HIS TRUE LOVE

While Bruce, 65, has known for decades that he wanted to become a woman, those feelings have never hampered his attraction for the opposite sex, the insider says. And that's not unusual. As Polly Kahl, a licensed counselor who specializes in transgender patients, tells Star, sexual orientation and gender identity are separate issues. "If Bruce remains attracted to women after gender reassignment, she may consider herself gay and continue to date women," Kahl explains.

Kahl says that intense hormonal therapy could bring on an attraction to men — but the insider doesn't see that happening with Bruce. "He's always loved the ladies," the insider says. "He longs to be feminine and pretty — and also to feel the touch of another woman."

Indeed, Bruce had already undergone various procedures — including a laryngeal shave to reduce the size of his Adam's apple — when he began dating Ronda Kamihira last fall. And according to the insider, they're still going strong. "He has very deep feelings for Ronda. They're not superserious right now, but no one would be surprised if their relationship continued to progress." And even if it doesn't, "Bruce wants to settle down with a woman," the insider says. "Whoever she is, she will be the first to love Bruce for who he really is. She'll be his one true love."

A MAJOR CHANGE FOR EVERYONE

Before Bruce settles down with his dream woman, though, he needs to help those already in his life cope with the change. And some are handling it better than others. While close sources have told Star that ex-wife Kris Jenner knew of his desire to become a woman back when they married in 1991, she is claiming to be shocked and confused over Bruce's upcoming transition — which will reportedly be documented on his own TV series.

But it's Bruce's kids' feelings that concern him most. "Khloé has been the most supportive," explains the insider, adding that the 5'10" Kardashian has even lent clothing to her 6'2" stepdad. "But it's a huge adjustment for everyone. He's trying to ease them into it slowly." And it looks like he's doing just that. At a recent family event, Bruce showed up in a dress — something he wanted to do with loved ones before trying out his new look in public. "He wore a simple dark-blue dress with heels, pearl earrings and a jacket," the insider says. And although it was "a shock" at first, family members were ultimately positive and accepting. "He knows it's hard, but he hopes they get used to it," says the insider. "He's still the same person, no matter what." ★

“Bruce has always loved the ladies. That hasn’t changed.”

Women”

A New Challenge

“He knows it will be harder to find a partner after his transition,” says an insider of Bruce. “But he’s up for the task.”

CAR CRASH: WAS IT HIS FAULT?

SUDDEN TRAGEDY

Will Bruce have to halt his sex change for jail? Police are reportedly going over video of Bruce’s Feb. 7 car accident — which resulted in the death of Kim Howe, 69 — and he may be more to blame than originally believed. While initial reports claimed Bruce rear-ended Howe’s Lexus, which had stopped after hitting a Prius, sources say the video shows Bruce rear-ending both cars, making the tragic accident entirely his fault. And Bruce — who was caught talking on the phone while driving days after the accident — could be charged with vehicular manslaughter.

PUT TO THE TEST

A LAW BROKEN

A source says
Louis looks up to Michael — and sees him as a role model.

Sandra's New Man!

LOVE!

FIVE YEARS AFTER HER HEART WAS BROKEN, SANDRA BULLOCK JUMPS INTO A NEW
ROMANCE — WITH COMEDIAN (AND BFF)
MICHAEL McDONALD!

"He's helped build up Sandy's confidence," a source claims of Michael.

FIVE years ago, Sandra Bullock was so devastated by her husband's infidelity, her friends feared she'd never fall in love again. But as she celebrated Mardi Gras in New Orleans with comedian Michael McDonald on Feb. 17, a glowingly happy Sandra showed just how far she's come.

The pair were enjoying a Fat Tuesday parade with Sandra's son, Louis, 5. And while their group also included pals Chelsea Handler, Whitney Cummings and Anthony Mackie, the threesome looked very much like a family. "Michael and Sandra have been best friends for years, but rumor has it things have turned a corner lately," says a source close to the couple, who cuddled throughout the parade and seemed very much in love. "Sandra's finally realized that Michael is more than just a friend."

AN UNEXPECTED ROMANCE

Falling for Michael has been something of a surprise for Sandra — who hasn't exactly been a fixture on the Hollywood dating scene. Blindsided by her ex-husband Jesse James' numerous cheating escapades — which came to light just as she was adopting Louis — Sandra has had trust issues with men in the wake of her divorce. As the source claims, "The whole Jesse debacle was really hard to recover from emotionally."

Focusing on career, friendships —

SANDRA'S NEW BOYFRIEND IS A MAD MAN

Sandra isn't the only one who thinks Michael is a hoot. The actor/comedian kept TV audiences in stitches for 10 seasons as MADtv's longest-running cast member — playing such memorable characters as Mofaz the Depressed Persian Tow Truck Driver, Stuart, Bible Dude and Marvin Tikvah. Since then, he's appeared in Cougar Town, Web Therapy and House of Lies. And of course, he played Julian in Sandra's hit The Heat.

and, of course, raising Louis — Sandra, 50, was living her life as though she never intended to get into another relationship. But then her friendship with Michael, 50, took an unexpected turn — and the pair admitted to having feelings for each other. "Sandy was surprised, but you could see it coming," says the source. "She trusts Michael implicitly and always has. He's been there for her through her darkest times, and he's really helped."

BONDING WITH LOUIS

Because of their enduring friendship, former MADtv star Michael already knows — and fits into — Sandra's busy lifestyle. As one of her costars in The Heat, he was among the Oscar winner's closest companions on the set, where the fun-loving pair shared jokes and confidences. "She feels comfortable with him," explains the insider. "She always has."

Indeed, Sandra feels so comfortable around Michael that she has already allowed him to bond with the most important man in her life. "Louis totally idolizes Michael," the source says. "And it makes Sandra love Michael even more."

WHAT LIES AHEAD?

As close as she and Michael are, though, Sandra still wants to take things slow. "It's still early," the source says. "Sandra is very happy with Michael, but she's nervous about what's going to happen in the future. She really values him as a friend, and she doesn't want to lose that by getting too close too soon."

Yet more and more, Sandra has been throwing caution to the wind. "It's not like her at all to flaunt her romance in front of her friends — but she did that at Mardi Gras," adds the source. "It really says a lot about how serious she is about him." ★

She's Finally Past The Pain

"You can't go backward," Sandra says of her humiliating 2010 divorce from Jesse. With Michael, she may be looking ahead at last.

Felt Happier
Or Sexier!”

It's been 41 years since Marie Osmond — the only sister among nine siblings in the famous performing family — had her showbiz breakthrough with the No. 1 country song “Paper Roses,” followed by the hit ’70s TV variety series Donny & Marie, costarring her heartthrob brother Donny Osmond (with whom she now performs in Las Vegas). Over time, her successes grew to include authoring a best-selling book, headlining on Broadway and designing a line of dolls that are top sellers around the world. But it hasn't all been a bed of roses, paper or otherwise, for Marie. Along the way, she went through two divorces, battled postpartum depression (as she revealed in her 2001 book, Behind the Smile) and endured the 2010 suicide of her 18-year-old son Michael, who had suffered from depression himself. “You have to keep the faith and have a positive attitude,” Marie, 55, tells Star in an exclusive interview. “It may not be easy, but it’s worth it. I’ve been working consistently in my business for five decades, and I’m as passionate now about the things I do as I have ever been. Passion, not age, should define you.”

—ALEX BURTON ★

How do you stay so young-looking?

Genetics obviously plays a part, but I truly believe that attitude is No. 1. You can do everything to look good on the outside, but if you're not happy on the inside, it shows. I'm also a huge advocate of water; I drink 10 large glasses a day. I have no problem with aging. But what's sad is people who want to be 30 when they're 50. I have four beautiful daughters, and I want them to be healthy in their thought patterns and love themselves.

Your son Stephen's wife, Claire, gave birth to little Stephen in December 2013. What was your reaction the moment you heard you were becoming a grandmother for the first time?

It was the most incredibly exciting feeling on the planet — maybe even cooler than when I heard I was pregnant for the first time, because it's the child of your child. It's the wonderful circle of life. And I'll let you in on a secret: My daughter Rachael is in her first trimester now, so I have a new grandchild on the way. I'm so excited, I can't stand it!

What's your personal diet and exercise regimen?

I did every diet on the planet before beginning my eight years with Nutrisystem. I lost 50 lbs., and I kept it off because they teach you how to maintain. They have a new system they created specifically for me called Fast 5 — how to lose five pounds quickly. The biggest thing for women is to keep their metabolism going — keep wood on the fire, so to speak. I'm very active, so that helps too, and I also love taking long walks with my husband while listening to Books on Tape.

You've had a romantic “do-over” with your husband Steve [they wed in 1982, divorced in 1985 and remarried in 2011]. How did you two realize you were meant to be back together?

Over the years, Steve and I had only seen each other a handful of times. It really wasn't until 2008, after I had moved to Las Vegas for my show, that we reconnected. I asked our son Stephen if he could help me move, and he said, “I'm with Dad — can I bring him over to help too?” And I said sure. It was really a friendship at first. After a year or so, we began dating again, and when our son decided to get married, we decided to get married first so we could be the true mom and dad again at his wedding. The night before we got married, we took everybody out to dinner, and Steve got down on one knee and gave me a beautiful, antique five-carat diamond from an estate in Paris. “It's a high-five for us getting back together,” he told me. He also gave me an exquisite

“I had on the same dress that I wore for our first marriage, in 1982,” says Marie of her May 2011 wedding to former pro basketball player Steve Craig, 58 — the second time they tied the knot.

DEDICATION & APPRECIATION

"I have the greatest fans in the world," says Marie. "They keep supporting what I do, and I'm so grateful for that. I manage my own Facebook, Twitter and Instagram pages, and I love interacting with them." She's also celebrating the 31st anniversary of Children's Miracle Network Hospitals (childrensmiraclenetworkhospitals.org), the charity she cofounded with The Dukes of Hazzard star John Schneider.

eight-carat ring signifying my eight kids. God does give you second chances. Steve is a good man, my best friend and the love of my life.

Your new tour, An Intimate Evening with Marie & Friends [info:marieosmond.com], begins in March. What's your favorite thing about performing a show like this?

It's been 15 years since I've done this kind of show that I love so much — a really intimate evening with my audience, talking, laughing and crying. I also have a new album that should be out soon, and I'll be debuting some songs from it in my show. But it's not just my music; I perform other songs that have meaning in my life.

"I'm blessed to have the family and friends that I do!"

— Marie tells Star

How long have you and Donny been performing at The Flamingo in Las Vegas?

We've been there seven years; we were voted the No. 1 show in Las Vegas three years in a row! We had been doing roughly 38 weeks a year, but we just cut it back so that we could have more time to do other things as well. Donny and I also do a Christmas tour every year, and we have a world tour in the planning stages.

What's your typical day like when you get a chance to just kick back?

Honestly, with all my projects, eight kids and a second grandchild on the way, I don't have a lot of free time. But it is really important to at least get some quiet time for myself. I'm constantly learning, so I like to read. I also love to sculpt. And every Friday night is date night with my wonderful husband.

Why are these the best days of your life?

Growing up in the world of showbiz is difficult. But eventually, I think you finally figure out who you are as a person, and you get to a place in your life where you find peace. I know there's a God, and he has sustained me through the hard times. This is a great time in my life right now. It's true, I've never been happier! ★

Lauren Conrad

LC shoots a tutorial for getting her signature beachy waves.

WHEN John Frieda asked ultimate blonde babe Lauren Conrad to be creative director for the return of their cult-favorite Beach Blonde line (it was discontinued for the past decade), she thought she must be California Dreamin'. Star chatted with the newlywed about the revival of the popular products.

How did growing up near the beach influence your hair color? I was blonde until I dyed my hair dark when I was a teenager. I had that natural, grown-out, sun-bleached look (before ombré was a thing!). I used to squeeze lemon juice into it.

You cut your hair short after getting married. How did that change the way you style it? I think messy hair is a little more fun, and I think you kind of have to embrace that when it's shorter.

What product from the line are you most excited about the brand bringing back? I used the Sea Salt Spray when I was younger! It's a great spray-and-go product. You just spritz it in and mess it up with your hands, and you get nice, easy day hair.

Q&A

Shahs Of Sunset's

Reza!

The party-loving prince of Persia returns with his wild friends for a drama-filled new season of Shahs of Sunset!

WHEN the reality show about wealthy Persians living in Beverly Hills premiered three years ago, openly gay and fabulously flamboyant Reza Farahan quickly became a fan favorite, never shying away from his love of Rolex watches or his obsession with BFF Mercedes "MJ" Javid's boobs. The wildly successful real estate agent took a break from his busy life to chat with Star about wedding planning, his bromance with costar Mike Shouhed and the upcoming fourth season.

You and Mike had a falling-out; where do things stand now?

I love and adore Mike, regardless of any tensions we might have. He's like a brother to me, and I'll always be there for him, even if I'm not liking him at the moment. But he's a bit of a bitch. I think he grew up storing his balls in his mom's pocketbook, and I think she handed them off to Jessica [Parida], who's storing them in her pocketbook. You know, it's hard for a Persian man to talk to a little biatch like Mike who's twice my size.

Golnesa claims Mike hit on her in Turkey last year. What's the scoop?

All I can say is, Mike has a very friendly, active and energetic penis, but I honestly don't know what the truth is.

MJ's dating a new guy. Is he nice?

Well, when you look like that you'd better be nice. As my mom would say, he looks like an inside-out rat.

What do you think of your new cast member, Asifa Mirza?

Asifa is like the Tasmanian Devil! But honestly, I'm still trying to find out about her heritage. The only place I can follow her lineage to is a fking spice rack, and it's nowhere near Iran!

Are there any defining moments for Reza this season?

Definitely. When we were shooting at the pool [above], I was falling apart. I looked like Shamu and didn't recognize myself for a second! A lot of people have negative things to say about reality shows, but, for me, this journey has been so helpful. I have a better relationship with my man, my father, my grandmother and my friends. I'm eternally grateful to Bravo and the show for giving me this opportunity to grow as a person.

Last season, you got engaged to Adam Neely. Any chance of a wedding this season?

You'll have to stay tuned, but things between Adam and I are great. He's an amazing person and I'm truly blessed to have him in my life!

MOVIE

→ FOCUS

Can you con a con man? That's the question at the center of this twisty little tale of romance and fraud. Will Smith plays Nicky, a legendary thief and flimflam man who gets involved with the stunning Jess (Margot Robbie), an aspiring pickpocket. She joins his crew for a Super Bowl week of thievery, ending in a capper of a caper. But even as she thinks she's falling for him, he says, "Nice job," and leaves her. So what's up when their paths cross three years later? There are reversals and shifts galore in a story that jumps from New York to New Orleans to Buenos Aires. Smith and Robbie have a snappy chemistry and a strong supporting cast around them: Gerald McRaney, Rodrigo Santoro, BD Wong. It's clever, funny and will keep you guessing from start to finish.

LONG STORY SHORT: It's been a while since Smith was in a movie this much fun. ★★★★★

TV

→ BATTLE CREEK

Premieres Sunday, March 1, at 10PM on CBS

In this new semicomedic cop series from the creator of Breaking Bad, two mismatched cops are forced to team up to solve crime. Dean Cain plays Det. Russ Agnew, who works in decaying Battle Creek, Mich., a small city so economically depressed the local police can't afford to charge their Tazers. Russ is convinced he's destined for bigger things when his world is invaded by an FBI agent, Milt Chamberlain (Josh Duhamel), who becomes the new big dog in Battle Creek law enforcement. Milt isn't any happier about being there than Russ — which makes for interesting chemistry between the snide, cocksure Russ and the more level and resourceful Milt. It's not exactly a crime-fighting bromance and not quite a rivalry, either. But there's only so far this idea may go before it runs out of steam. ★★☆☆☆

SHE'S A BALLER

"Baseball runs in the family," she reveals in the new issue of Shape magazine. "As a girl growing up in a house full of boys, I'd have 15 minutes to talk about my dance classes, then the rest of our time was spent on baseball!" Her love of the game even extended to her personal life, at one point: She famously dated Yankee Alex Rodriguez!

Kate says that even with two rambunctious sons (Ryder, 11, and Bingham, 3), she still finds time to meditate, just like her mom, Goldie Hawn, taught her as a child. "Sometimes it's just staring at a wall, but if you can really be quiet, that's when you start to refocus."

SHE'S A SHARK CHASER

She's terrified of sharks but loves paddleboarding, Kate says, so she faced her fears head-on. "I've gone on dives to swim near sharks. Murky water, I'm not so good in. But now, as long as I can see them, I'm not as frightened!" ★

Breakthrough technology converts phone calls to captions.

New amplified phone lets you hear AND see the conversation.

The Captioning Telephone converts phone conversations to easy-to-read captions for individuals with hearing loss.

Do you get discouraged when you hear your telephone ring? Do you avoid using your phone because hearing difficulties make it hard to understand the person on the other end of the line? For many Americans the telephone conversation – once an important part of everyday life – has become a thing of the past. Because they can't understand what is said to them on the phone, they're often cut off from friends, family, doctors and caregivers. Now, thanks to innovative technology there is finally a better way.

A simple idea... made possible with sophisticated technology. If you have trouble understanding a call, the Captioning Telephone can change your life. During a phone call the words spoken to you appear on the phone's screen – similar to closed captioning on TV. So when you make or receive a call, the words spoken to you are not only amplified by the phone, but scroll across the phone so you can listen while reading everything that's said to you. Each call is routed through a call center, where computer technology – aided by a live representative – generates immediate voice-to-text translations. The captioning is real-time, accurate and readable. Your conversation is private and the captioning service doesn't cost you a penny. Captioned Telephone Service (CTS) is regulated and funded by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and is designed exclusively for individuals with hearing loss. In order to use CTS in your home, you must have standard telephone service and high-speed Internet connectivity where the phone will be used. Callers do not need special equipment or a captioning phone in order to speak with you.

Finally... a phone you can use again. The Captioning Telephone is also packed with features to help make phone calls easier. The keypad has large, easy to use buttons. You get adjustable volume amplification along with the ability to save captions for review later. It even has an answering machine that provides you with the captions of each message.

SEE what you've been missing!

See for yourself with our exclusive home trial. Try the Captioning Telephone in your own home and if you are not completely amazed,

"For years I avoided phone calls because I couldn't understand the caller... now I don't miss a thing!"

simply return it within 60-days for a refund of the product purchase price. It even comes with a 5-year warranty.
